Miss Johnson Has Narrow Escape

Miss Ethel Johnson, assistant Postmaster, had a narrow escape from drowning, Wednesday night. With a party of young folks she was skating on the canal and got on thin ice, where the fire the skaters used to warm by had weakened it. A number of the young people rushed to her assistance, and after being in the icy water for several minutes she was rescued and taken home. Thursday morning she was able to attend to her duties in the post office as usual.

Bachelors' Hall.

The Pearsite Company officials have fixed up several rooms over the laboratory for living quarters, and a number of the young men of the office force have moved in. The rooms are large and light, and look very comfortable, one large one being left for a reception and reading room.

Mr. Townsend Better

Mr. Sid Townsend, of Spout Spring, who was seriously injured when a pair of young mules ran away, and dragged him through a field a week ago, is improving nicely, and will soon be out again. His injuries were not as serious as at first reported.

James Newell, a witness for the commonwealth in the case of Marion Atkinson, charged with shooting Clay Collee, missed the morning train to Lexington Thursday, and a warrant was issued for his arrest and wired here. Marshal Will Eaton took him to Lexington on the noon train. Jim did not want to evade appearing in court, but merely slept too long, and so he missed the train.

F. N. Beall, representing the Underwood Typewriter Co., was in town Thursday. Mr. Beall informed us that manufacturers of typewriter ribbons are getting short of the dyes used in coloring the ribbons, and are watching developments at the Pearsite works here with keen interest.

FOR SALE.

As I intend to return to farming I am offering for sale my merchandise business, with a stock of $2,500, at Spout Spring, four miles from Clay City. Splendid location, post office in connection, and an excellent business. Terms to suit purchasers.

LETCHER BYRD,
301 SPOUT SPRING, KY.

Officers Elected.

Jas. B. Hall, of Lexington, was elected President and A. T. Whitt, Vice President and Cashier of the Clay City National Bank at a recent Directors' meeting. Geo. Hon. Jno. D. Atkinson and Frank B. Russell are the other Directors.

To Preach Here Sunday

Elder Brown, of Kimberlin Heights, Tenn., will preach at the Christian Church Sunday. As Mr. Brown is being considered as a prospective pastor of the church everyone is asked to come and hear him, particularly the officers and members of the church.

Jackson Surgeon Here

Dr. Wilgus Back, of Jackson, was here this morning to see Mr. G. E. Mers, who had a leg amputated a few weeks ago in Dr. Back's hospital. He found his patient doing very well and gaining strength rapidly.

The office "devil" made a trip to the canal the other day and, on returning to the office, got off the following effusion:

Stating has been in full and frost-bit swing this week on the glacial reaches of our grand canal. From the morning whistle almost till the night-watch turns his midnight key in the Pearsite time-lock, they are there—youth and age, strength and beauty,—lying in long lines or circling in swift curves, they go—youth and beauty, fun and frolic, on the old canal.

STANTON.

(By P. O. Derthick.)

Mr. Wm. Johnson is quite sick with la grippe, at this writing.

Mr. Gus Hale, of Bonny, Ky., visited Miss Julia Evans at the home of the writer this week.

Mr. A. J. Martin was in Mr. Sterling Monday and Tuesday where he bought a large bunch of cattle to feed.

Miss Beatrice Blount was home with her parents Monday night and returned to her school work at Clay City Tuesday.

The examination for the promotion of the Common school children into the High School will be held the last Friday and Saturday in this month.

Willie Burris, who was a student in the college here, was sent to the reform school this week. He was tried Tuesday for pilfering the students' rooms at Mr. Henry Daniel's and also breaking into Prof. Hanley's house and taking things. He was caught Sunday with the stolen goods in his possession.

The writer was at Torrent over Saturday and Sunday and during the time the house held there the house could hardly hold the people at any of the meetings. It seems good to speak where the people are hungry to hear the Word of God and the house is crowded full.

This is an age when God needs men. He needs men and women who are willing to face the battle of life and be a loyal soldier. He needs those who are consecrated to His service, who will be a worker for Him in all kinds of weather, under all kinds of difficulties, overcoming all obstacles, light sin in all its forms, help the church in all its various organizations, the Sunday School, the Prayer Meeting; He needs those who are willing to stand by each other and help them to live right, whose feelings do not constitute their religion, who are not rebuffed because things do not go their way every time. He needs those whose hearts are on fire for Him, who will go forward into the battle no matter what the people may say, no matter if their feelings do get hurt once in a while, no matter if things look discouraging, no matter what the difficulties are. He needs men and women who are not cowards and yet are tender toward the weak, loving towards their brother, up lifting in their influence, consecrated in their service. The Christian warfare is no place for the coward. If you are that kind and afraid to fight sin and wickedness, afraid to take your stand against the hosts of Satan, then stay out. This is no place for you. It needs soldiers tried and true, soldiers who have been scarred and wounded for Christ's sake, who are not undaunted by anything that comes up. And yet their hearts must be filled with love, with a passion for soul winning and a burning desire to help men and women to

Atkinson Must Stand Trial

In Lexington, Monday, a motion to dismiss the case against Marion Atkinson on a charge of murder, was denied by Judge Kerr, who ruled that as the first indictment was faulty, a trial under that indictment did not constitute a hearing. The first indictment made it appear as if the killing had occurred in Fayette county, and it was claimed by the county attorney who drew it up that it had been changed after leaving his hands.

Atkinson's trial is set for this morning.

A Correction.

In last week's issue we stated that of the forty-eight births in this precinct, during the past year, Dr. Martin had reported forty-four. In this we were mistaken, as Dr. Martin reported forty-four births to the paper, but they were not in this precinct, and from our statement it would appear that the other physician had only reported four to the Registrar, which was not the case.

Where Was It?

An American Press Association news item sent out from Cincinnati says:

"Fire destroyed several business houses in Clay City Monday night, entailing a loss of $30,000."

Deaton Loses in Supreme Court

The second appeal of Fletch Deaton, the old Breathitt county freelist, was dismissed in the Supreme Court last week and the decision of Judge Benton was sustained. Deaton is critically ill at the Winchester jail, and small hope is held out for his recovery.

live right. He needs men and women who are willing to set the right example before the world.

To Retire From Business

In this issue Mr. Letcher Byrd is advertising his goods business at Spout Spring for sale, as he has decided to return to farming. Mr. Byrd has been very successful at Spout Spring, but finds the call to the farm irresistible, and will dispose of his business as soon as possible.

Massachusetts Boy Here

The Milford (Mass.) Daily Journal recently had the following item: "Milford acquaintances of Charles J. Davoren, now of Clay City, Ky., but formerly employed at P. H. Gilson & Co's., have received souvenir cards and Christmas remembrances from him. Since leaving here last July, Mr. Davoren has been with the Pearsite Company, a large corporation doing business in Kentucky. He is now assistant in the laboratory of the concern and is doing well. He has favored several of his friends here with copies of the Clay City Times, a hustling little newspaper of that section."

Charley is by this time well known to everybody in town, and is making good in his work with the Pearsite Co.

The cold snap early in the week found a number of people short of coal, and the bins at the local yards are empty. There was some tall hustling for neighbors coal houses for a few days until a car arrived.

The bill introduced by Representative Cook to make vacant the office of sheriff in any county in which a prisoner is taken by a mob from the custody of the sheriff or his deputies is modeled from a law which is in force in several States and is much needed in many States as a practical preventive of lynching.

Such a law would, in all likelihood, be of considerable constructive value in Kentucky, and the bill that has been introduced is worthy of thoughtful consideration.—State Journal.

A HOME-MADE PAPER

THURSDAY, JAN. 20, 1916

A SUFFICIENT ANSWER.

The Frankfort State Journal.

As might have been expected, the reply of Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart to some recent criticisms of the State Illiteracy Commission is complete and convincing. Those who know Mrs. Stewart and who are familiar with the great work she has been doing for popular education in Kentucky have had the utmost confidence in her ability to refute every flimsy charge that was made. Her statement, appearing in the State Journal yesterday, covers the ground fully. There is nothing else to be said.

It is to be regretted that a newspaper of the standing and character of the Courier-Journal should have dignified such an aggregation of trivialities by publication. The Courier-Journal in the past has been generous and consistent in its support of the movement against illiteracy. That it should have been made the vehicle of a groundless and uncalled-for attack on the Commission in general and on Mrs. Stewart in particular, is unfortunate. Undoubtedly the paper and its legislative representatives were imposed upon by some person or some interest inimical to the Commission or to its chairman. The State Journal confesses its inability to fathom the reasons for such enmity.

Certainly no patriotic Kentuckian should begrudge the pittance that has been spent by the State in forwarding the work of the Commission. Mrs. Stewart has carried this work along under the most discouraging circumstances. She has labored early and late with such resources as she could command, and, considering the obstacles she has had to overcome, the movement has been remarkably successful. It is an enterprise of vast and far-reaching importance to Kentucky. Its possibilities are not to be measured in dollars and cents, for its complete success would be of value past all calculation. The State's money could not possibly be spent to better purpose.

Mrs. Stewart is the head and front of the soul and body, as it were, of the movement. She has made it a vital organization by working day and night to build it up—and she has done so at a sacrifice of her time and means. If she had been a mere seeker of personal gain she could have carried her propaganda outside of Kentucky and made dollars out of it where she hasn't made cents. From a financial standpoint she could have profited personally by leaving Kentucky before the moonlight school movement got outside of Rowan county, for she had ample opportunity to engage in educational work in other States at larger compensation than she ever has received in Kentucky or is likely to receive. These are facts which are indisputable, and they are a good and sufficient answer to every charge and every insinuation that may be inspired or circulated, through enmity, envy or ignorance, to her detriment.

We have recently added some new type and equipment to our office, and we are now prepared to turn out any kind of job work for you on short notice. When you want that next lot of printing done, give us a chance at it before sending it out of the county.

Be Energetic Not Languid

Medical Authority Tells What This Condition Really Means

"When you are languid and listless, or lack ambition and feel so melancholy that life seems scarcely worth the living, it is absolutely necessary that you take treatment to correct these sub-normal conditions, because you are suffering from derangements of a vital organ," declares one of the greatest medical authorities.

That "tired feeling" means a good deal more than is generally realized. It is not laziness, it is a physical ailment that needs correction quickly before it becomes even more serious by taking a firm hold on you.

Throw off that nervous depression. It is your duty.

Tanlac, the tonic, appetizer and invigorant, that builds new tissues, vitalizes the blood and acts so favorably on ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys and catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes, is designated especially to correct these conditions. The results of the Tanlac treatment are amazing. It tends to put you back in body and mind like those old-fashioned but most sensible folks—the pioneers, and to make you sturdy and of real manhood and womanhood. Men and women, from the highest to the lowest walks of life, everywhere are testifying to the reborn Tanlac has brought them. No other remedy has ever won such great endorsements that can only come from superlative merits.

Tanlac can now be had in Clay City, at Eaton and McGreires', and in Stanton, at Hardwick & Co., where it is being fully explained to all questioners.

Using Crushed Stone

Hill Congleton, who is one of our most prosperous farmers and business men, is going to try crushed limestone on his farm this year. He has recently unloaded here several cars of crushed stone from the Yellow Rock quarries and is having it hauled out to his farm at Rocky Hill. The experts say that crushed stone is the finest as well as the cheapest fertilizer in the world and is used extensively elsewhere but Mr. Congleton is the first to try it in this country, so far as we know.—Beattyville Enterprise

SHE HAD A REAL VISION

The fitful flames in the grate under a row of well-filled stockings lighted the faces of the young farmer and his wife. Both faces wore the Christmas smile, the smile which tells the story that

"Christmas comes but once a year, But when it comes it brings Good Cheer."

Gradually the smile died in the woman's eyes and the curve of her lips straightened into a hard line. Her glance left the flickering flames to run over the row of grotesquely fat stockings along the edge of the mantle. Slowly she arose, walked into an adjoining room, and looked at the rosy fat cheeks of her brood of youngsters who were dreaming of the glorious morrow.

When she again dropped on the stool by the man's side, he turned to ask: "They are all snug and sound asleep, dreaming of Christmas Day, ain't they, little woman?"

"Yes," she answered, listlessly. Putting his hand under the woman's chin he lifted her face to look deep into her eyes before he said:

"Something's worryin' you. What is it? Don't let's start out the night before Christmas with any worry on our minds. Have you forgot to get some present for one of the children, or what?"

She nodded her head emphatically and explained:

"Yes, that's it exactly. We've forgotten all about the best present of them all and one that lasts all the year."

"Well, but what is it?"

"It's the school."

The man began to laugh and then checked himself as he saw the pain in his wife's face, so he merely said, quietly:

"Go ahead, little woman, and tell me what's on your mind."

"Here it is. I've been sitting here thinking of all the thought and love we have put into the children's stockings so that Christmas may bring them good cheer. I've thought of the parents who love their children as you and I love ours, and I have started everybody in this neighborhood planning and spending for the children's pleasure to-morrow."

"Well, don't you think that's all right?" he asked her as he put his hand over her's where it rested on the arm of his chair.

"Oh, yes, of course I do. I want to-morrow to be the happiest day the children have ever known; but there's a bigger thing than Christmas that we have forgotten. I that's the school-house where they go day after day."

"What do you want for the children in the way of a school?" the man asked.

The woman did not answer the question, but went to the mantle and picked up a small electrical toy above her ten-year-old son's stocking. For a moment she held it in her hand and then asked:

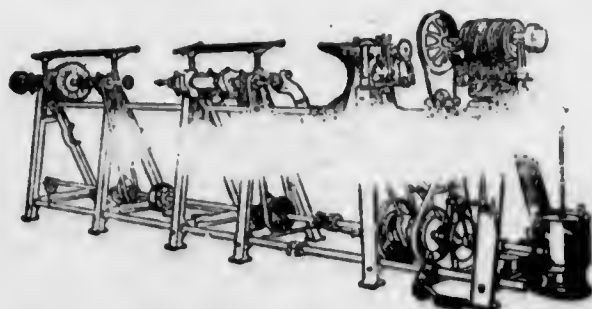

"Why did you buy this?"

"I bought it because he's all about electricity and it's the newest electrical toy I could find."

"Then what I expected you'd say. In this neighborhood where they have no school, they have to do with some money with which to do it. They want to-morrow to be a real Christmas for the little."

"What about the school, little woman? It seems to me you're doing a lot of bustling around the house."

"No, I'm not. I'm trying to get you to the point where you'll see that while we are dressing our children in 20th century clothes, giving them 20th century toys and 20th century fruits and candies, we haven't provided a 20th century school house. Now a 20th century school system. I mean that these preparations and her gesture took in the burning stockings and the toys on the mantle, "come but once a year and do not have much of an effect on the child's life. What we need is to give our children, especially those that live under the blue skies that cover our farms, real schools, no matter what they cost. If parents would only use some of the Christmas-giving spirit in educating their children, the country would be so much happier for the work of the children from one year's end to another."

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and remove dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.
